September 16, Time & Price TBA, Kennecott Copper Mine

The Bingham Canyon Mine, is the largest man-made excavation on earth. While you watch the action in the mine, a descriptive narration explains the operations.

From the overlook, you can watch 240 and 320 ton capacity haulage trucks deliver copper ore to the in-pit crusher, where the material is reduced to the size of soccer balls before being loaded onto a five-mile conveyor that carries the ore to the Copperton Concentrator.

The Visitors Center has interactive displays and exhibits including 3-D microscopes to examine rock and mineral samples, and displays showing how copper is used in your everyday life. You will also see exhibits ranging from old mining artifacts and model trucks to modern-day operations and environmental engineering as well as three-dimensional models that provide an educational and entertaining experience for people of all ages.

Brigham City Senior Center has been the recipient of a portion of the mine's Visitor Center proceeds.
